NEW CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS FOR RODENTICIDE PURCHASES FROM JANUARY 2026

From 1st January there are important changes in legislation that will affect customers wishing to purchase professional rodenticides. Anybody wishing to purchase rodenticide products from this date must hold a stewardship-specific training certificate less than 5 years old, or an older certificate will be valid provided they are part of a Continuing Professional Development (CPD) scheme. For farmers, existing membership in Farm Assurance Schemes will no longer be enough to purchase rodenticides, a CRRU approved certificate within the last 5 years must also be held.

COARS FLUKE AND WORM TESTING

Farmers considering whether to treat livestock for liver fluke and worms are being urged by experts from the Control of Cattle Parasites Sustainably (COWS) groups and Sustainable Control of Parasites in Sheep (SCOPS) to use the testing available to decide if they need to treat and when.

We are able to offer at our Garstang store a fluke and worm testing service. Our Micron kit allows us to test faecal samples for fluke and worms, helping us to accurately identify the condition and prescribe the most suitable wormer to treat it.
